New Employees Part One: Welcome New Hires! Now Where's the Bathroom?

So you've done it -- landed that new job. Whether you are making the transition from one job to another or you've been out of work for awhile, starting a new job is an adjustment that is sometimes more difficult than anticipated.

- Find out the location of the nearest bathroom.
• Get your voice mail and network passwords and find out how to get hooked up to the local printer.
• Find out the name of the office tech guru/troubleshooter and how to contact the Help Desk.
• Learn the identity of the VKP (very knowledgeable person) -- you know, the man or woman who knows everything there is to know about the office and everyone in it.
